Dear Parents,

As students begin to think about college, it is important to encourage them to start planning early. Here are some tips to help your child prepare for college:

1. Research Colleges: Encourage your child to research colleges that match their interests and qualifications. Visiting college campuses and speaking with current students can provide valuable insights.

2. Complete Applications: College applications can be time-consuming, so it's important to start early. Make sure your child understands the deadlines and requirements for each school.

3. Financial Aid: College can be expensive, so it's important for your child to understand the financial aid options available. Encourage them to complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) and explore other scholarship opportunities.

4. Standardized Tests: Prepare your child for standardized tests like the SAT or ACT. Many colleges require these scores as part of the application process.

5. College Visits: Encourage your child to visit colleges and universities they are interested in. This can help them determine if the school is a good fit.

6. Letters of Recommendation: Encourage your child to start soliciting letters of recommendation from teachers and other professionals.

7. Summer Programs: Participating in summer programs or internships can provide valuable experience and help your child determine their career path.

8. Stay Organized: Help your child develop good time management and organization skills. This will be crucial as they navigate the college application process.

9. Stay Connected: Keep in touch with your child's progress and provide support along the way.

Remember, the college application process can be overwhelming, but with planning and support, your child can succeed. Good luck!

Sincerely,
