Sneak peek at next week

Reading: In Reading next week we will be writing all about Non Fiction Texts. We will write down interesting facts we learned from a non fiction book.

Phonics: Next week in Phonics we will be working on the word wall words: make and I'm. We will write, make, and read those words. We will also be practicing using sound boxes and saying the individual sounds in words. We will work with a partner.

Writing: Next week we will continue writing our opinions about the setting and characters in Eric Carle books. We will use the word because to say more about why we have the opinion.

Math: Next week we will be learning about addition and subtraction number stories.
