Hello Families!

As the weather starts to change, please dress your child accordingly so they are comfortable learning in the classroom. I also notice that some students are super tired and falls asleep in class. Please try to get your child to bed earlier so they get a full eight hours of sleep so they feel refresh and ready to learn.

Remember there is no school Thursday, October 17 and Friday, October 18! Have a great long weekend and we'll continue learning next week!

As always, you can visit our room any time. If you have any questions or concerns, please let me know at 651.293.8715 or email pa.houa.lee@spps.org.

-Ms. Lee

MATH

We are still learning how to show a number in many ways. We hav also added place values.

READING

We are learning about characters, settings and major events in a stories. Please ask your child those details after she/he finished reading.

WRITING

We are continuing to learn how to print neatly and having all the sounds in words so readers could read our stories.

Inquiry Corner

Question words - help your child to ask questions about their wonderings by providing them with questions: who, what, where, when, why and how.
